

Modelo InterProbit

An abstract graphic in the top right corner of the slide. It consists of a dense, interconnected network of thin white lines (edges) connecting small white dots (nodes). The nodes are scattered across the area, with some forming small clusters and others being isolated. The overall effect is a complex, web-like structure that suggests a network or a data graph.